TABLE OF CONTENTS

DOI: https://doi.org/10.33546/bnj.v9i4

Theory and Concept Development
Conduct problems among middle adolescents in the community settings: A concept analysis
Fauzan Saputra, Penpaktr Uthis, Sunisa Sukratul
pp 293-301

Original Research Articles
Prenatal harmful substances: Thai pregnant women’s experiences
Jatuporn Tantanokit, Nantaporn Sansiriphum, Kasara Sripichyakan, Pimpadporn Klunklin
pp 302-312

Association between Islamic religiosity, social support, marriage satisfaction, and postpartum depression in teenage mothers in West Java, Indonesia: A cross-sectional study
Irma Nurniarti, Kustati Budi Lestari, Moch Syafii
pp 313-321

The impact of a self-management program on exercise adherence among patients discharged after coronary artery bypass grafts: A quasi-experimental study in Thailand
Sudarat Tippinit, Rapin Polsook
pp 322-330

Self-care knowledge in patients with intestinal stomas in a selected hospital in the south of Viet Nam: A descriptive cross-sectional study
Thi Dung Ngo, Miranda Hawks, Thi Thanh Truc Nguyen, Thi Ngoc Han Nguyen, Hong Thiep Nguyen, Nguyen Thanh Truc Mai
pp 331-338

Enhancing recovery in older patients undergoing abdominal surgery: Examining the effect of a preoperative preparation program using a quasi-experimental design Issarapong Penphumphuang, Yaowarat Matchim, Prasit Mahawongkhajit, Thanyarat Boontoi
pp 339-348

Factors influencing mobility among people post-surgery for hip fractures: A cross-sectional study
Chanipa Yoryuanyong, Chanokporn Jitpanya, Siri Phan Sasat
pp 349-358

Institutional ethnography of hemodialysis care: Perspectives of multidisciplinary health care teams in Nepal
Devaka Kumari Acharya, Kittikorn Nilmanat, Umaporn Boonyasopun
pp 359-368

Addressing academic challenges: A quasi-experimental study on the effect of remedial exam strategy for nursing students with low academic performance Eman M. Gaber Hassan
pp 369-376

Self-esteem among nursing students at a public university in Saudi Arabia: A cross-sectional study
Ahmed Mansour Almansour
pp 377-383

The role of academic procrastination on Internet addiction among Thai university students: A cross-sectional study Sivasankari Nadarajan, Pornpat Hengudomsuk, Chintana Wacharasin
pp 384-390

Prevalence and influencing factors of fatigue among patients undergoing continuous ambulatory peritoneal dialysis: A cross-sectional study
Surachai Maninet, Bangaorn Nakrit, Phasuk Suttavat
pp 391-398

Original Research: Methodology Paper
Psychometric validity of the Thai version of the Motivation for Healthy Eating Scale in patients with acute coronary syndrome
Ratchadaporn Boonsanong, Rapin Polsook
pp 399-405
Belitung Nursing Journal (BNJ) is an internationally refereed publication that provides a venue for nursing scholarship with an Asian focus and perspectives from the region. Its objective is to highlight evidence on nursing science, management, healthcare policy, education, and practice within Asian communities worldwide, catering to a broad international readership.

BNJ welcomes various submissions, including original research, review articles, theory and concept development, perspectives, letters to editors, methodology papers, study protocols, and case studies on clinical and professional nursing topics from 49 Asian countries (according to the United Nations). Furthermore, BNJ accepts negative results, given that the research design is sound.

The majority of papers in BNJ are written by nurses and midwives, with no restrictions on authorship, as long as the articles align with the stated objectives and scopes, particularly with regards to implications for nursing science, management, and practice.

The intended readership of BNJ encompasses practicing nurses and midwives in all spheres and levels committed to advancing practice and professional development based on new knowledge and evidence, nursing and midwifery profession managers and senior members, nurse educators and nursing students, and researchers, scholars, and scientists in other disciplines with an interest in common issues and interdisciplinary collaboration.

BNJ is an official publication of Department of Publication of Belitung Raya Foundation in Belitung Indonesia, jointly with Indonesian National Nurses Association of Belitung Indonesia (PPNI Belitung) and Prodi D3 Keperawatan Belitung Poltekkes Kemenkes RI Pangkal Pinang, Indonesia.

Belitung Raya Foundation is a non-profit organization that focuses on education, health, information technology, and the social and empowerment of the community. Belitung Raya Foundation is established in 2015 with an official license of establishment from the Ministry of Law and Human Rights of the Republic of Indonesia (MENKUMHAM RI) with No: AHU-00009599.AH.01.12 Year 2015 and Notarial Deed No: 12 on 06 July 2015 by SRI ARIYAWATI, SH, M.KN.

BNJ is indexed in Scopus, Emerging Sources Citation Index (Web of Science), PubMed Central, PubMed, Ovid EMCare, DOAJ, Google Scholar.